COURT OF APPRAIS—COLUMNIA, FRIDAY, MAY 15.-J. B. Adams and wife vs. C. H. Lathan, ex tor. Mr. G. W. Williams was heard for appellant;

THE MOUNT PLEASANT BERRY. -The late pic nics have directed attention to the well manage ferry between the city and Mount Pleasant and Sul dend. This farry was conducted last year derable loss, but Capt H. L. P. McCormick, getic owner of the line, stuck to his work, ready for a large summer business. The bost is now in excellent order, and makes six trips, the times of her arrival and departure being advertised in THE NEWS. Mr. J. H. Murray is the agent of the line, and one of the most attentive and cour teous men in the steamboat business.

THE Cry RAILWAY .- Another car has been placed on the King-street route, making seven cars now on that line. The new conveyance is a com dious two-horse car, known as No. 7, and which will be under charge of Conductor A. Boumillat, Mr. D. B. Fickling taking his place on No. 1. This change will ially increase the accommodation on the Kingstreet line, as the cars will now leave every eight minutes instead of every ten minutes as heretofore. In future the care will run to the Battery every Sun day, and no trips will be made to the old postoffice. The amended schedule is given in another column.

STORMS IN LANCASTER DISTRICT .- We learn from the Lancaster Ledger that a terrific storm visited the upper portion of that district one day last week. It extended from the plantation of Dr. T. K Cureton, seven miles north of the courthouse, rang ing up the main Charlotte road for several miles then turning its course into Union County, N. C. Trees were twisted off at their trunks, houses unroofed, and fences scattered generally. No loss of life is reported, though several narrow escapes. A hall storm also visited the Wild Cat section in Lan--caster District one day last week, doing considerable . damage to crops.

THE SOUTH CAROLINA UNIVERSITY .- The reort of the Hon. R. W. Barnwell, the Chairman of the Faculty, to Governor Orr, is published, from which it appears that the institution is in a healthy condition, the number of students having increased from forty-nine in 1866, to ninety-three in '67, and to one hundred and afteen in '68. By the exercise of tact and economy the current expenses of the Uniwersity have been kept within the limits of receipts, and the successive appropriations from the State Treasury, granted by the Legislature and General Canby, have been nearly exhausted in making the needed repairs to those portions of the buildings which had become dilapipated during the war.

AHEAD, AS USUAL !- The bulletins of THE Dallx News, giving the special dispatches of our wide-awake Washington correspondent, contained the first announcement; given to our community, on Saturday, of the President's acquittal on the elevent article. A venerable city cotemporary (pre-occupied, probably, with its musings over things in Charleston as they were an hundred years ago,) at first posted a statement that the President had been found guilty, and it was some time before this was torn down and the correct result substituted. The intense anxiety to learn the particulars of the vote induced us yes terday morning to issue our full special dispatches n an extra, several thousand copies of which went off like hot cakes, spreading the news throughou the city and along the railway routes.

DEPARTURE OF EMIGRANTS FOR LIBERIA .-The Colonization Society's ship Golconda sailed from Savannah on Thursday afternoon, with four hundred and fifty-one emigrants for Liberia. Of these, twelve were from Savannah, five from Augusts, twenty-five from Sparts, thirty-seven from Marion, Twiggs county, and two hundred and four from Columbus, Georgia; twelve from Mobile, and thirty-nine from Eufzula, Alabama; forty-two from Columbus, Mississippi; sixty-five from Ridgeville, South Oarolina; and nine from Nashville, Tennessee. They have chosen as their places of settlement in the African Republic-Monrovia, sixty-eight; Cape Palmas, ninety; and Bassa, two hundred and ninety-two. Most of the men are farmers and mechanics, and are well supplied with agricultural implements and tools. Turning lathes and the requisite machinery for grist and saw mills, for which ample water power abounds in Liberis, were taken by some of the well-to-do of them. lewing machines were not forgotten by the women. Free transportation in the ship was given them by the Society, such articles tending to promote the success of the emigrants and the republic to which they go. A fair proportion of the company can read, and some can read and write. There are five licensed ministers of the Baptist and Methodist denomina-

THE CATHOLIC CHARITY FAIR-THE LAST PRIZES DRAWN .- On Friday night the Catholic Fair closed its doors to the generous patrons who had been its nightly visitors. No detailed report of the receipts of the different tables has been furnished, but "a reliable gentleman who came down last night on the cars" says that the net receipts will amount to at least seven thousand three hundred dollars.

THE RELIGIOUS CONDITION OF THE FREEDMEN IN SOUTH CAROLINA.—The following extract from the report of the Committee on the state of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of South Carolina, will be found interesting, as it contains a sad account of the moral and religious condition of the colored people

The condition of the colored people in many sections of the diocese, physical, mental and moral, is wretched, and every day becoming worse. Obitem, Fet'chism of the lowest type, belief in false prophets, priests, conjurors, sorcerers, and other forms of African superstition are in some sections fast reviving, and extending their baleful swav to the ruin of the body and soul of their deluded victims. In one parish fourteen chapels built for their use, in another seven, in snother four, and in several two or three are all deserted; one or two only are occupied occasionally by preachers of their own class. The worship thus conducted is compared to that of howling dervishes, making night hideous. At other times it consists or dancing and other mere animal exercises and excitement. Except in a few sections, where some of the missonaries of the Northern Methodist Church were laboring, the colored people received their religious instruction from ministers of their own class and color, many of whom were extremely ignorant and vicious. Every influence that could be exerted was brought to bear upon the freedmen to induce them to sever their connection with their former churches, and the number of these buildings in the different parishes that were now vacant proved how successful these agents had been. It was not known by what religious authority the colored ministers were licensed to preach, or by whom they were supported, I tult was evident that ets, priests, conjurors, sorcerers, and other forms of whom they were supported, tut it was evident that the freedmen were fast relapsing into a scate of Afri-can barbarism. The committee recommended the en-ployment of missionaries, and an application to the Northern Episcopalians for aid.

CHARLESTON AND THE WAR-BY J. WITHERSPOON ERVIN.—The issue of June 4th of that standard Caro first chapters of a thrilling nonvellette under the above title, written expressly for its columns, by one of the most popular authors in the State.

One of the most painful circumstances connected with the heroic defence of Charleston, during its three years of slege, is to be found in the fact, that during all this time, there were persons in the city, "in high life," who were engaged as spies in sending information to the besiegers. Drawings of the fortifications were furnished, weak points noted, and the movements of troops indicated as soon as begun, and the fact resided of the time of carriers and denature. movements of troops indicated as sooh as begun, as the fleet netified of the time of arrival and departu the neet neumed of the time of arrival and departure of blockade-running vessels. So cautiously did these emissaries of the enemy conduct their work, that for a long time the arill of the most eminent detectives was baffled in their endeavors to break up the liket correspondence. These spies were the source of extreme annoyance to the commanders in Charleston, and the information they were enabled to furnish often the article of the commanders. and the information they were enabled to furnish often thwarted their best matured designs upon the often thwarted their best matured designs upon the enemy. As a proof of the completeness of this conspiracy, it may be remarked that the daily papers, of the city were frequently read on board the blockade fleet the same day of their publication.

The author of "Isolette, or the Female Spy," has taken the principal character and incidents in this affair, and under assumed names has presented them in the form of a thrilling and well written romauce, historic and imaginative. The circumstances of the story are detailed as beginning on James Island, and in connection with some of the South Carolina regiments stationed there. After many thrilling adventures, in which the "female spy" figures largely, the heroes of the plot follow their regiment to Virginia, before the walls of Petersburg. The surrender of General Lee's army, in 1865, finds them again among the Santee ht.ls, where the narrative closes.

Persons who wish to secure this interesting story complete, should send in their subscriptions at once, as only a limited number of copies of the paper will be printed to supply future orders. To accommodate persons who desire the Enquirer on account of the story, the following are the terms in advance: One copy, three months, $1; ten copies, three months, $7 50; one copy, one year, $3 50. FOURTH DAY-SATURDAY, MAY 16 .- The Convention was opened with prayer by Rev. P. Dawes Hay, afte usual business preliminaries transacted. The debate on the proposed alteration in the constitution, providing that all lay delegates to the Convention shall be communicants, was resumed, and a long discussion arose, in which a number of the clergy and lay delegates present participated, The Rev. C. P. Gads-Lord, in relation to the action of the General Convention on the same subject, said that although the General Convention had direct control of the subjects of doctrine, discipline, &c., yet the Diocesan Conven the consent of such conventions being necessary to the adoption of any change in either. In fact, it will be recollected that the Diocesan Convention of South Carolina had some years ago prevented the proposed change in the prayer-book, which, though at that time adopted by a majority of the General Convention, is now generally acknowledged to have been an unwise proposition. The protest against the change unwise proposition. The protest against the chang originated in St. Philip's Church, when Bishop Gade den was pastor, was confirmed by the action of the South Carolina Diocesan Convention, and gathering strength as it spread to the other dioceses, finally deby Rev. B. B. Sams, because it would depr.ve the weaker parishes of representation, and he stated, as an example, that his parish had no male communi-

Mr. John Hanckel said that it had been acknow ledged by the speakers on the opposite side that this Diocesan Convention as now organized had done great good in times past, and he did not know of any harm that had been done in the convention by the non-communicants. A change of the kind propos had been found unnecessary in the past, and no reason existed to make it necessary now.

Mr. Ed. M. been made against the proposed am it established a test oath as a qualification of membership of the convention. The fact was that no legislative body ever existed the members of which were not required to qualify in some way, except inations which were above law, and whose province it was to frame organic laws, and were left untramelled by oaths in order that they might not be bound by any law. The constitution which this envention was bound to support was of divine origin, and so was the test which was established by the Scriptures and not by man. The mission of the church was to fight against the world and not to form alliances with it. It was the duty of Christian to draw wide and deep the line of demarkation be tween the church and the world. There was no time more suitable for abandoning dependence upon the world and looking to God for support than the season of affliction. The afflicted heart naturally seeks consolation and support from the Supreme Being. Now is the time for the church to leave the world, and with God's help sustain itself against the world.

Mr. William Whaley opposed the amendment, as an innovation both impolitic and improper. The Rev. W. P. DuBose said it had been stated that the non-communicant delegates had done no harm in the convention. This might be true, because they were too weak in numbers for that purpose; but these non-communicant members did harm at home, and in some instances they had brought great scandal upon the church. The lay delegates chosen were frequently not only not distinguished for piety, but were ungodly. It was in the small parishes where it was contended the present system should be continued that most harm was done. He mentioned an instance of a wicked man being sent as a delegate, who afterwards scoffed at the proceedings. As to the argument that sending men to the convention encouraged a growth in grace he was satisfied of the contrary, as most of them got tired the first day on account of the tedious process of organization, and left the convention dis-

opposition to the amendment. The Rev. Paul Trapier, D.D., replied to the remarks of Dr. Lord on the previous day, and explained his vote given in the General Convention on a s milar question to that now under discussion. He said that he did not then wish to go ahead of his diocese, but now that the church at large had assumed this advanced position, he was in favor of this diocess taking the same stand. He thought the amendmen necessary to the spiritual welfare of the church. When he assumed charge of St. Michael's Church, it 1940, there were two hundred and seventeen female, parity was due mainly to the fact that men were no sufficiently aroused to the importance of communion Men with no pretensions to piety had addressed the convention with self-satisfied countenances, as if they felt that a lasting benefit was conferred on the church by their presence, and he must confess that they seemed to be sustained in that opinion by the rest of McComb; cushion, Dr. Moore; silver cruet, Mrs. the convention. It would be much better to perfect the change now than hereafter.

A lay delegate then said that his parish had elected four delegates, three christians and one heathen; that the heathen had been present and attending to his duties to the best of his ability during the ses sion, while not one of the christians had appeared. Rev. A. T. Porter asked the Rev. C. P. Gadsden for an explanation of his assertion that only resident members of a parish could be delegates. He said that two parishes had representations who were not

Mr. Gadsden replied that the canons of the church recognize two kinds of residence, local and canoni cal. Canonical residence meant the parish with which a church member kept up his religious con nection, and the term "resident" was used in this taken, and resulted as follows: Clergy, ayes 21, noes

6; laity, ayes 12, noes 9. The laity not giving a two thirds vote, the amendment was lost.

The report of the Committee on the State of the Church was then read by Rev. J. S. Hanckel, of which the following is a brief synopsis. The churches now on the roll of the convention, without any eccle siastical organization, are St. Helena, St. Helena Parish; Grace Church, Sullivan's Island; St. Peter's, Charleston; St. Peter's, St. Peter's Parish; Ascension Church, Gillisonville; St. James', Goose Creek; St. Paul's, Stono; Christ Church, Charleston; Willtown, Barnwell; Ascension, Comtahee; Prince Williams, Prince William's Parish; Church of the Mes siab, North Santee; John's and James Island Churches. The committee recommended that the names of these parishes be not called hereafter until they are in active organization, and that they be not assessed until such time. The committee reported that the fund of the Advancement Society was re duced from $89,000 to $33,000, and its income from $7000 to $2000. The Bishop's fund had been re duced from $70,000 to $60,000, and its income from $4000 to $1500. The fund of the Theological Seminary has been entirely lost. In six parishes the in vestments have decreased in value fifty to seventy five per cent., and in others heard from the loss has eem total. The salaries of some of the minister are only $50 a year, and nearly all are less than $1000 two get $1100, and three $2500. For the three year before the war, the average amount contributed by the diocese was $55,000, and for last year but $3500. In 1860, the whole number of colored communicant was 2960-this year it is only 291. The report also contained an elaborate review of the religious condition of the colored people in the State, which i given in another column. The committee complimented the Revs. P. F. ste vens and Roberts Johnson for their success as mis sionaries among the colored people. The repor closed with resolutions recomme ment of eight missionaries, and an application to the church at the North for aid. The report was adopted.

The discussion of the amendment in relation to the canon on the trial of ministers was resumed, and on motion of R. J. Shaw, Esq., of Union, it was post poned to the next convention. The report of the trustees of the Theological Seminary was taken up, and, on motion of Rev. Pau Trapier, D. D., it was resolved that the trustees be directed to take steps to suspend the exercises of the seminary at the conclusion of the present session; fat the buildings be placed in charge of the trustees; to be dealt with as they see fit, and that the unpaid salaries of the professors be considered a debt of honor, and have a paramount claim on any funds at their disposal not otherwise specially appropriat After the discussion of measures of fin other matters, the Convention adjourned sine die. The next Convention will meet at St. Philip's Church in this city, on the second Wednesday i
